COUNTRY. One Month . 50

There is no doubt that spies from this region give Buckner regular information of all he needs to know, as far as facts can be ascertained. There is one consolation -the facts can't give them much comfort. They may set him to burning and destroying bridges for his personal safety, of which he will take good head. After all he can't depend on his spies. They are so addicted to lying that they couldn't tell the truth, if it would suit better than falsehood. Besides, they know that Buckner wouldn't like the trnth if he knew it. He has practiced simulation and mendacity so long that he would feel gratified to cheat himself, or to be chested. With Buckner, the chief end of man is dissimulation. He started fer Louisville-why doesn't he come? Rousseau, of whom the Secesh are so fond, would be glad to see Buckner and shake hands with him. A host of Federa! troops are waiting anxiously expecting him If he doesn't pay them a visit, they will be compelled to visit him.

He came to this State with large promises of protection, and now he is destroying the property of Kentucky to protect his own carcass. His spies have scared him. He doesn't know half the truth, or he wouldn't stay a day longer in Kentucky. Destroying bridges will not save him. His spies come back here and report that Polk, Zollicoffer. &c, will join him, and then they will make a rush at Louisville; but why did they destroy the bridge at Bowlinggreen? These worthies do not think now of coming here They are chiefly exercised to know how they are to stay where they are.

Upon the whole, these spies can't help Buckner much. What it is important for him to know they can't find out, and he had better not trust them. Perhaps they are spies on him half the time. He has sold himself, and his spies would sell him on the

The statesmen of Europe are specu lating about the revolution in this country The general opinion of the ruling powers is, that the Great Republic is proving itself to be, what they always thought it was, a humbug: that our people are no more capable of self government than the people of Europe; that we shall need a master, or, perhaps, several masters; and will, in due time, find what we need. They are of opinion that the Southern Confederacy ought to be recognized; that it will be able to sustain itself. They don't conceal what beloned out: "Wha's a Yankee-want to is obvious from the nature of the case—that Europe will feel relieved when the great Rights men, who were present, turned away overshadowing power on this Continent is in disgust from the ruffian mass of meat, divided and broken. It was growing to be guis and grease an object of grave apprehensions. A bubble, they believed it was, but an alarming one, and it was not certain quite that it was a bubble. A very formidable and terrible power it was to Europe, if it were not a

Well, things look bad enough at a distance. We are going through the fire that every people in Europe has gone through. It remains to be seen if we shall work out anything better than they have. Our chances are still better than theirs were, and the American people have some sense left yet, we hope; but thousands have a bad way of chowing it just now. Demagogues have got the start of the people, and it is yet to be seen which shall go under-the demagogues or the people.

There is not a statesman in the world who Romney. will not say that a division of this Union is a calamity to both sections; a remedy for no evils; the opening of the very floodgates of misery to generations hereafter. The people North and South know it, if they are not fools. Why, then, will they allow

They can prevent it, and sacrifice nothing but a few ambitious demagogues, who have get all this up, and whose safety is the destruction of their country.

The Richmond editors econov themselves with what ought to be done by their armies; in giving instructions, indeed, on the policy required. They will feel, after awhile, some surprise that their views are not carried out. Jeff. Davis & Co. would like to follow the programme if they knew how to do it. The heroes of the quill overleap the small obstacles that puzzle Davis & Co. Why do the Confederate armies lie before Washington and do nothing? Why don't they push on and take the place? Why don't they winter their troops in Philadelphis or New York, or, at least, in Obio or played out here. Kentucky? They are lying still, eating np the South and accomplishing nothing, whilst the Federal troops are gathering all round known as the South Branch since last can be injurious, either to my own reputs them, and are very likely to spend the winter in all the important Southern cities. The Richmand editors ought not to allow this. They should come out with legions of hard bulky words, and scare the Yankees clear off to the North pole.

Coffee had anddenly advanced from 50 ents to 624 cents per pound. Bacon was selling for 28 cents per pound, butter for 50 cents, potatoes 45 cents per peck, and eggs 22 cents per dozon. The rise in these and other common products was said by the dealers to arise trom the fact that the Southern Confederacy had just bought up immense quantities for the use of her soldiers, and produced a temporary scarcity in the market. But the truth is, it has been suddenly discovered that an actual through the regular channels. For several what they have averred in their communications serious secreity exists, and that the days my correspondence with Gen. Loring tions we believe to be true in letter and and serious scarcity exists, and that the effects of the National blockade has been much more effectual than has been supposed, and apprehensions are experienced by many influential and intelligent citizens that unless success soon crowns the rebel arms. Virginia must rebel against the occupation of her territory by Southern troops, and the late rupture between the rebel leaders is not calculated to tranquilize this feeling. The poorer classes in Norfolk and other important places in the vicinity are already growing clamorous, and demand that their wants be respected and attended to by those who have given them assurance that the idea of starving them into loyal submission is but a joke.

The Malison Courier understands that Dr. Wm. A. Bowles, of Orange county, Ind, who obtained an infamous notoriety by attempting to destroy the reputation of his own regiment in the Mexican war, is now busily engaged in endeavoring to dissuade young men from volunteering in the service of their country. Several who had already volunteered in his neighborhood were induced to leave the ranks through part of a citizen of a loyal State, and he deserves as much to be restrained of his liberty as any other traitor.

The Disunionists South say the object of this war is to abolish slavery; the Disunionists North say that the rebellion can't be put down until slavery is abolished. Thus the two classes of traiters play into each other's hands. If one class is refused the privilege of the mails, why should not the other be refused? One lies and the other indorses the lie; the indorser is rather the worse of the two.

News from the South

From a copy of the Richmond Enquirer, of the 7th inst., we obtain the following

A VICTORY IN THE WEST. Additional intelligence received at the War Department gives full confirmation of the victory gained by General Jackson, on the Greenbrier river. The following is the fficial dispatch of General Jackson himself, addressed to the Secretary of War:

GREENERIER RIVER, Oct. 3, 1861. The enemy attacked us at eight o'clock ed at five thousand, and with six pieces of artillery, of longer range than any we have. After a hot fire of four and a half hours, and heavy attempts to charge our lines, he was repulsed, evidently with considerable loss. We had no cavalry to pursue him on his retreat. The loss on our side has been inconsiderable. A fuller report will be given has been interrupted. The enemy's force was much superior to ours, but we had the advantage of position.

The loss of the enemy was estimated at a hundred killed. The most remarkable oircumstance of the action is that of the part taken by our pickets, about two hundred of whom are said to have held the enemy in check for an hour and a half. The locality of the battle was on the pike leading from Beverly to Staunton. On their retreat the enemy had fallen back about six or seven miles, to the neighborhood of what was known as Stabin's cabin. It was not known under whose command the enemy were. Among the killed was Surgeon Graves, of Captain Rice's artillery company. Captain Rice was badly wounded, having had one of his feet shot off by a cannon ball.

[From the Louisville Journal.]

The committee for aiding the subsistence of the families of volunteers in the service of the United States Government respect fully and confidently appeal to the people

zens of Louisville to take oharge of means for securing subsistence for the families of volunteers, and under that advisement this committee has been appointed and has entered upon the work of organization, in order to give efficiency to its methods of assistance. Our main reliance must be upon the use of allotment tickets, provided for in the act of Congress of the 22d of 1861. The object of this act is to July, extend to the army a convenient method of help for the families of soldiers, eimilar to one that has long been enjoyed by the navy The act of Congress provides, under certain regulations, that each soldier may alot a portion of his pay for the support of his family, and the amount of this allo: ment for each company is deducted from the regular pay-roll, and the sum allotted is paid to the holders of the authorized allotment tickets. The committee of citizens, appointed by the Mayor, propose to take these tickets and raise the full amount in cash, where they can do so, of the value of the tickets, which is to be handed over to the families for whose benefit the allotment is made. We propose to do this in order that these families may receive, whenever the pay-ment is due, the full amount named in the ticket, provided the volunteer himself has not intrenched upon it. And every induce ment that we can urge upon the soldier, we shall press upon him to induce him to se spart as large a portion of his pay, in the allotment ticket for his family, as he can spare, so that his family may neither suffer as, nor become, objects of charity. There is no necessity for either. This committee is studiously endeavoring to avoid the oreation of a large eleemosynary institution in its just and necessary measures for the prolection of the families of the volunteers. The volunteer himself should feel an hones joy in knowing that his pay is contributing the suppor of those who are entitled to to the support of those who are that con-look to him for aid, and he should have con-fidence that his allotment money is per forming its work most thoroughly, when he knows that his fellow citizens at home are doing all in their power to make that fund as useful as possible to his family. This committee does not propose nor desire to

But some time must elapse before there approaches, many of our supplies are being can be any enjoyment from the allotment fast exhausted. Our markets are nearly system. At present we are paving the way toward it as napidly as we possibly oan. Suffering and destitution cannot wait upon any tardy movements; their demands are imperative and must at once receive the attention of the community. The members of this committee feel that they owe a spe cial debt to sufferers of this class, but they do not conceive that this debt is any more called forth an order to have them examined theirs than of every family that has received and is now enjoying the benefits of the prompt volunteering that has saved and is likely to secure this region of the State from the presence of a degrading serfdom under en insolent fee. We feel that it is our duty to assist those who thus stepped forward at the call of their country to discharge the duties of patriotism, and as it is a duty from which we do not wish to shrink, we lels: feel confident that you will not attempt to evade its demands. It would be a burning shame to permit the families of the volun teers to perish or even to suffer, while we have the mesns of prevention. We are well aware of the fact that the people of Louisville have been onerously taxed in meeting obligations that are quite as heavy upon the conterminous regions to her as pon her. Yet her people have uncomplainingly recognized and pertormed their duties to these obligations, and we entertain no fear but that they will continue to do so. They are not the people to permit any one to starve in their midst. And we beg leave to say to them that there is an amount of destitution and distress in some of these families that threaten serious results. make no call upon any for aid in which we are not willing to take our part. We do not expect or intend to appeal to any to nely this philanthropic and just mission forward and stand idle curselves. Our appeal is based upon the fact that we have cheerfully recognized our duty toward this cause, and having lod the way, we feel justified in callng upon others to come on with us in the practice of this piety. NIGHT DISPATCH. CAMP M'KINSTBY, NEAR STRACUSE, Mu, Tuesday Night, October 15.

(Special Dispatch to the Republican] Everything is vory quiet here to-night, but active preparations are making for a movement on a quarter least expected. Increased means of transportation are criving here, and more are expected.

The secessionists seem to have no designs, for the present, on any point is this section of the State. Georgetown, Booneville, and Sedalia, remain quiet.

It is thought a number of spies have been in this neighborhood recently, anxious to learn the intentions and probable course of Fremont's army. No evidence could be ad duzed to prove the parties spies, but those suspected are said to have been purposely misled, and to have gone to various quarters of the State with their mis-information, believing it strictly true.

I have some interesting intelligence, but am prevented from sending it by fear of beneficing the rebels thereby.

A soldier called, wet, weary, and hungry, at the farm house of Henry Hernoli, farmer in Fairfax county, Va, and asked to be sheltered from the storm. It was a few days after the Bull Run affair. The farmer took him in. The soldier said he belonged to the Union army, and showed the Union army uniform to corroborate his The farmer fed and warmed him, and offered him his parlor, where he could more securely conceal him, in case his house might be visited by the rebels. After receiving the farmer's hospitalities, the soldier said he would go to the barn. where he could better conceal himself from the rebels. From there he disappeared, and not long after the farmer was arrested and carried to Manassas Gap, where the soldier, who proved to be a spy, appeared before him, and, at a mock trial, swore to a tiscus of falsehoods. He was the cause of the old man's arrest and ruin. After being detain-ed several weeks, the farmer was sent to Richmond and incarcerated in the common jail, a filthy hole. He was released a few days ago, and reached Washington Saturday night.

Sect ssion Horrors Described by Andrew Johnson.

In his recent speech at Columbus, Ohic, Andrew Johnson thus describes the horrors of Secession in Tennessee:

"While yet beseeching them to act upon their own doc'rine, and let us alone, the hoofs of their cavalry were indenting our plains, and the tramp of their troops was plants, and about our homes! And yet there are those who set up the puling cry, 'Let there be no coercion!' What! a Secessionist declaring against coercion! Why. God bless yon, friends, they never got anything except by coercion. They coerced Teamessee, Georgia, Alabama, and Virginia out of the Union. They attempted it in Maryland—the Government stopped it; they are now attempting it in Kentucky, and there the People will stop it! Their whole career has been one of coercion, of outrage, insult, blasphemy, and crime. Detachments of their myrmidons, who were sent, as they said, 'to protect as from the despotism of Abe Lincoln' (?), would pass through our county, in Tennessee, on the railroad.

"As they went they saw the flag of our country, the giorious old Stars and Stripes, doating from the gable of an humble schoolhouse, where the little boys had placed it as an emblem of their pure and dawning love for the Union. What did these miscreants do? They stopped their train, and with hootings and ribaldry, with menaces and executions and blasphemy, they tore it from the children, and trampled it in the mire: They would enter private houses, and under the pretense of seeking for ammunition, would rummage drawers and desks, robbing the family of the money, and the females of their jewels and heir-They would order their meals and their lodging in tones of insolence and in terms of insult. They would feed their horses with wastefnlness, and scatter the food recklessly on the ground. And after eating to the fill of their insatiate appetites, and rioting and rummaging, they would mount, and, with oaths and obscenity. would tell the family to charge it all to Jeff Davis. And this, my friends, is Secession!

"They came into my own connty; they called at my house. Some of their number name forward and demanded of my family whether I was at home, saying that, if I was, they had come to take mc, and hang Pleasant intelligence this for gentle. men(?) to communicate to wife and dangh-ters! But my daughter, indignant at their conduct, said, 'No; my father is not at home; he is absent in another county, where he is making a speech for the Union; and this, I presume, you know, or your cowardly crew would not have dared to show themselves at this house.' They Sterling Price thinks, I learn, that in a few years the Southern Confederacy will embrace all of Mexico, Cuba, and the greater part of South America, and that its only European rival in power will be only European rival in power will be at the gate post. They insolently commanded her to remove it; she would not. They attempted to seize it, and she seized that They then went into the woods, cut a hickory withe, and returning sconrged her person with it.

"This, my friends, is Secession, and these are the men you are to 'compromise' with. Some of these same demons, five of fiends in human shape, stopped at the honse of a man named Markham, who, seeing hem approach, and fearing insult and outrage to himself if he remained, and thinking that they would not be so likely to prorose a quarrel with the family if he were not present, took his rifle from its resting piace, and retired unobserved by them into a little thinket hard by the house, in order be at hand in case they offered any abuse to his family. He had an amiable wife and two daughters, the youngest about twelve years of age, and the other just blessoming into womanhood, about sixteen, as beautiful as the morning and as pure as the dawdrop. The Secessionists entered and insolently demanded dinner for themselves and feed for their horses. The wife told them there was the crib and the fodder, and they would give them their dinner. They took the hay and the corn and scattered it about the ground, and ordered the ladies to hasten

"In due time the mest was prepared, and soon greedily devonred After sating their appetites at the table, they began to address rude remarks to the wife and daughters. One attempted to make love to the young lady, when her young sister, seizing the tin horn or trumpet, which is kept in almost a'l rural homesteads to make a summons to dinner or sound an alarm to the neighbors in case of an accident, sprang to the door and blew a blast. At this the hellish demon turned, drew a pistol from his girdle, fired its bullet through her brain, and with one wild shrick she fell in agonizing death at the feet of her screaming mother. That blast, the shot, the shriek, and scream, pierced the ear of the waiting father; he sprang from his retreat, he stood at his door -one glance revealed all, and taking delibcrate aim, he sent his rifle's bullet straight through the villain's heart! The other four. alarmed at the trumpet blast, and knowing that the whole neighborhood would soon be pon them, mounted their horses and fled. he enraged father, finding them beyond is reach, turning to where the slayer his little daughter lay, seized his ax and cut his brutal body into quarters and threw them out, as only fit for the dogs to devonr!

.Such, my friends, is Secession at home. It is robbery, rapine and murder. And it is marching toward you, and will be you. You must arm for your own defease. I speak not to you in fables. These things occurred not in a remote country, but right over there in Tennessee I scem even yet to hear the shrink that went up from that young and innocent heart, as it of life, so wild, so clear, so agonizing, that even angelic spirits might come to listen and avenget Will you not, then, rush to the support of your Government and the resone of your country from the reign of terror that has no parallel in the history of MAYOR'S OFFICE, Oct. 14, 1861.

HEADQUARTERS DEPARTMENT OF THE CUMBERLAND,

Louisville, Kr., Oct. 9, 1861. The following plan for organizing troops in Kentucky for service for "three years or during the war," has been agreed on beween the State Military Board and the Commanding General:

The Military Board will appoint, at the arious places where volunteers are offerng, mustering officers, who will muster in and receive volunteers as they are pre-

The Board will also supply to its agents funds for paying the expenses incurred, and for the supply of such articles of clothing and camp equipage as are necessary before uniforms are issued.

As soon as ten companies of a regiment are complete, they will be mustered into the service of the United States, and supplied with arms, accoutrements, uniforms, and ransportation to the place of service by the regular Quartermaster of the United

Also at points convenient to the Subsistence Departments, provisions will be issued to the companies during the process of formation.

Where persons have been authorized to raise regiments and may succeed in doing so, they will be commissioned as Colonels but if this occasions delays, the Captains of companies may form themselves into regiments of ten companies, assemble at a rendezvous, and submit their choice of Colonel, Lieutenant Colonel, and Major for commissions.

If they do not voluntarily form such organization, the commanding General will order them as independent companies to join together at convenient points, and there form them into regiments and battalions. appointing the necessary field officers

Ratified by the Military Board in session at Frankfort, October 12, 1861, and signed this 12th day of Ootober, 1861.

A battery has just been opened on Quantioo Hill, on the bank of Quantioo Creek, a short distance above Shipping Point. The other three are between Shipping Point and Evansport. There is said to be also a battery at Timber Creek, and one gun on the hill above Evansport.

division this morning. Gen Banks arrived here to-day and has been engaged in consultation at the War Department. Secretary Cameron is expected to arrive here this evening from the west. Nothing is said here about Secretary Seward's circular.

Information received here from a credita ble source says that Mason and Slidell, rebel ministers to France and England, are not only authorized to negotiate treaties of extraordinary commercial advantage, but to place the Southern Confederacy, for a limited period, under their protection.

Of thirty-six rebel prisoners to be released only three took the oath of allegiance. The rest took the oath not to bear arms. The Council elected Walch Mayor, vice Berret resigned.

DARNSTOWN, MD., Oct. 17 .- On the night of the 16th a detachment of 12 men cros-ed the Potomac for the purpose of reconnoilering and foraging. When reaching about half a mile from the river they were attacked by 15 rebels, two of whom were instantly killed. Among the wounded was my informant, Corporal Gracy. As Gracy lay upon the ground, a rebel named Mc Cartly Lowe, a farmer, residing in the vioinity, rushed up and shot him twice, both shots taking effect, and was stopped from a third time by his captain. One of the bells propertied Grace's back in a slanting balls penetrated Gracy's back in a slanting direction, and came out on his left side The other entering the back, lodged in his

While in the hospital at Fairfax he occasionally overheard conversations between the officers and surgeons of the hospital. He saw Beaure gard and Longstreet in conversation on several occasions, and inferred that Long-street held some important commission. On the 5th inst. Jeff. Davis was at Fairfax and spent several hours with Besuregard. Gen. Johnston was understood to be somewhere in the immediate neighborhood. On one occasion he said to a surgeon that the rebel forces in front of Washington were so scattered that, if attacked at any point there must of necessity be an abrupt retreat They think it impossible to be driven from this point. It was generally believed that

Beauregard would burn the village of Fair-iax Court-house, if compelled to evacuate It was impossible to ascertain the exact number of the rebel troops in and around Fairfax. They were variously estimated at from 50,000 to 100,000. As far as Gracy's observations went they were better fed and clothed, but he heard of no complaints a regard to the latter, although their uniforms presented a curious mixture, gray predominating over all other shades of color. Salt had been scarce, but the supply was becoming more plentiful. He learned that hundreds of men were employed on the sea shore in making salt.

NEW YORK, Oct. 17 .- The fleet which sailed from here on Sunday arrived at Old Point on Monday, creating great excitement by its extensive character. A flag of truce from Norfolk came down that day, but Gen.

Wool refused to receive it. The circular of Secretary Seward caused a depression in stooks to day. Some persons think that the Secretary of State is in possession of knowledge relative to foreign movements which prompted such a document. Government sixes of 1861 declined about 2 per cent., and some leading stocks nearly 4 per cent. The noon market closed, however, slightly more steady.

The Lane Banditti —Something of the character of the Lane banditti may be in ferred from an incident which recently occurred at Kansas City. Mr. Magraw, of Pennsylvania, a gentleman who has for some time been acting as an agent for the Overland Mail and Transportation Compa my at Independence, was in Kansas City on business. While there he was told that he was not safe. The town was full of jayhawkers, thieves, and murderers, belong-ing to Lane's Brigade. Mr Magraw, act-ing upon the information given to him, prepared to leave, and asked Gen. Sturgis to grant him an escort. It was given, so far as Little Biue, and there Mr. Magraw far as Little Blue, and there Mr. Magraw was left. I can recommend Mrs. Limebaugh's Compound Syrup of Spikenard and Tar I have been sick for a long time, have had several dectors, and they failed in my case. I was very much swollen, and had a severe cough. After ning your medicine a white, I was cured of my comb and reliaved of my swelling. My complexion is good, and now I am doing my own work. My youngest child had a had cough for a long time, so severe that her breast-bone was appring, from severe cugping, in the shape of a chiken bine but she is now well and looks well. She had been treated by the doctors for a long time, in they all failed to cure her cugh. Now he is well.
